

Team Building & Development

Leadership

Management Development

Business
Academy

Developing people for organisational excellence

The Collingwood Group believes in success through Management², an ethos that is not only based on strong leadership, but a commitment and ability at all levels to achieve shared organisational goals; it is not just the managers that are important.

We have brought together a number of consultants that specialise in different areas of training and organisational development. This enables The Collingwood Group to provide integrated training and development that meet all the client needs.

Tel: 08448003485
www.thecollingwoodgroup.com